Chinese Culture and Society

Course Description

This course is a rich mixture of readings and field trips. Guided by lectures on Chinese history, customs, values, and philosophies, the students will explore a series of materials describing China's present and past, its culture and people. Based on their research, students will develop an essay with one concentration about China. Travel destinations include but are not limited to the legendary Great Wall, the Forbidden City, and the Sacred Path of Ming Tombs of Beijing as well as a visit to the trendy city of Shanghai, and a tour to Hangzhou, one of the oldest cities in China.

Students will not only be able to appreciate China's stunning landscape, diverse ethnic and cultural traditions, they will also be able to gain an insight into the extraordinary continuities between China's present and past as well as to observe the dramatic changes that have occurred since China's economic reformation. Moreover, this course will move the students from the familiar to the unfamiliar, which provides them with a precious experience for self-discovery as well as personal and professional growth.
